

Experience A Whole New World of Professional Resources

Join the Soil and Water Conservation Society

SWCS is the principal forum for soil and water conservation information, education, and advocacy. Here is just a few of the key opportunities members enjoy

CPESC. Join hundreds of others who are certified specialists in erosion and sediment control. CPESC designees, who are also SWCS members, enjoy application and annual dues discounts. To learn about the benefits of certification and how to apply, check the appropriate box below.

RUSLE software. RUSLE (Revised Universal Soil Loss Equation) software lets you estimate the effects of various conservation systems on soil erosion rates faster and more accurately than with any other erosion prediction software. Contact SWCS, the official distributor for RUSLE software, for details.

Editorial guidelines. It's never too late to be published in our national award-winning Journal of Soil and Water Conservation. Find out how you can get your research in print. Check it out below.

1996 annual conference and expo. Take home leading-edge information in natural resources management. Find out how you can be a poster presenter, receive CEU credits, or participate in a concurrent session. Plan now to attend the SWCS international annual meeting and expo from July 7-10 in Keystone, Colorado. Check below if you'd like to receive a free registration packet.
